PAGHAM AND THE ENDOWMENT OF CANTERBURY HALL.

BY LINDSAY FLEMING, M.A.

Canterbury Quadrangle and Canterbury Gate are familiar features of Christ Church, Oxford; it may not be so generally known that they preserve the memory of Canterbury Hall, founded by Archbishop Islyp in 1361 and eventually absorbed in Wolsey's great foundation.

Islyp was concerned at the losses among the clergy occasioned by the Black Death of 1349, to which was owing his own promotion, and by the recurrence of plague in 1361. "Desiring the increase of the clergy and of sound doctrine now by the present epidemic very deficient," the Archbishop was granted the royal licence, on 20th October, 1361, "to found a hall or house to be commonly called the Hall of Canterbury at Oxford, for scholars religious as well as seculars, attending to study and praying to God specially for the King and the good estate of the realm; and to assign to the scholars in frank almoin the advowson of the Church of Pageham of his immediate jurisdiction, held in chief; and for the appropriate of the church by the scholars."[1]

The mischances that befell Islyp's praiseworthy endeavour have been fully related,[2] but rather with reference to aspects of general import, such as, was John Wyclif the warden for a brief time, appointed by Islyp, the John Wyclif, or only his obscure namesake, of Mayfield; what were the rights and wrongs of monks and clergy who found fresh cause for disagreement in striving for supremacy within the new society; what were the respective rights of King and of Pope when questions of patronage as this arose. There thus seems still room for a few observations on Pagham's particular concern in connection with the endowment of the college.

Greater part of the original revenues of Canterbury Hall was provided by the appropriation, by Archbishop Islyp, of Pagham Rectory. This was one of the wealthiest in the country. In 1291 it was calculated to be worth £110 a year,[3] and in 1341 the Rectory with the Vicarages of Pagham and Bersted were valued at 200 marks annually, say, at least £4,000 to-day.[4] It has not, I think, been remarked in this connection that Simon Islyp had himself enjoyed this income. He was Rector of Pagham from 15th April to 15th August, 1349, when he exchanged with Robert de Askeby, Prebendary of Keten, in the Church of St. Mary, Lincoln.[5] He became Archbishop in the same year.

It seems surprising that a life-tenant could alienate church property in perpetuity. Such right was used by the Archbishops though its legality was contested. In the 12th century the Archbishop had assigned certain revenue accruing from Pagham to Lewes Priory.[6] It was essential for Islyp to gain the concurrence of his Chapter and the monks of Christ Church, Canterbury, besides that of the King and the Pope. We need not enter into the varied transactions that arose in consequence, except to mention, as there has been some confusion on this matter, that the Pope gave his consent to the foundation, on 21st September, 1363, "except for the appropriation," of Pagham Church.[7] This reservation appears to have been ignored at the time but became of importance later.

Having received the royal licence, mentioned above, Islyp proceeded, after some delay, to appropriate the Church of Pagham to the warden and scholars of Canterbury Hall: "So often as we turn our thoughts to the poverty of the students in the famous and beloved University of Oxford, so often is our heart pierced with the sword of sorrow . . . after serious and diligent consultation thereupon with the Prior and Chapter of Christchurch . . . we appropriate, annex and unite the aforesaid Church of Pagham . . . to the said Hall College and Students . . . Saving however the perpetual vicars of the said parish church and of the chapel of Berghstede and the perpetual chapelry of Bognor annexed to the same church and the portions of old assigned to them " and reserving the collation of this vicarage and chapelry.[8]

The rector, Sir William in the Hierne, facilitated the arrangements by resigning Pagham Church into the hands of the Archbishop, on 24th May, 1363.[9]

Simon Islyp died in 1366, before his college had acquired a settled existence and his successor in the see, Simon Langham, a Benedictine, owing to the disputes to which we have only referred, bid fair to bring the new project to a speedy and abrupt end. Basing his action, apparently, though this supposition has not been previously advanced, on the papal denial of consent to the appropriation, Archbishop Langham deprived the college of the revenues from Pagham church; as was complained[10] he, " of his own rash action, sequestered the fruits of the said parish church of Pageham, in which (as it were) the whole substance of the maintenance of the clerks consisted."

However, the King intervened, and in 1372 confirmed to the Warden and Scholars, though monks of Canterbury only, contrary to the original royal licence, the church of Pagham,[11] on payment of, as has been described, " the enormous fine of 200 marks,"[12] actually, as noted above, one year's rental based on the valuation of 1341.

Archbishop Whittlesey, a nephew of Simon Islyp, confirmed the appropriation of Pagham church to the Warden and Scholars of Canterbury Hall, on 15th April, 1372.[13]

However, Canterbury Hall was not fated to retain this endowment undisturbed, for, on 16th July, 1383, Archbishop Courtenay issued instructions to the vicar of Pagham, reciting that "for certain reasons as justice demanded," he had sequestered "the whole of the money from the farm of the church" of Pagham. The vicar was ordered to keep in safe custody the same money and to pay out of it £12 "to Sir William Donorr', monk of our church of Canterbury, whom we have deputed to administer the temporalities of our House or Hall of Canterbury in the University of Oxford, for the payment of the tenth due from the said church to the King and for other charges specified by us to him. Neither do we wish to restrict his office so that he cannot let the said church to farm from time to time if it seem to him expedient."[14] It is probable that Canterbury Hall no longer retained direct benefit from Pagham, and was henceforth dependent on Christchurch, Canterbury.

When the action of Archbishop Langham had the effect of annulling the appropriation the question of appointment to the Rectory of Pagham, thus revived, arose, and the King claimed to present. Such would seem to be the explanation of some obscure transactions of 1370 to 1372. In records of the Dean and Chapter of Canterbury is the entry: "In 1370 the benefice of Pagham, appropriated to Canterbury College in Oxford, was vacant, and the King proposed, the priory of Christ Church being vacant by the death of Prior Hathbrand, to present to it. This aggression the chapter resented, alleging that they had papal bulls which ousted the King from his right of patronage during the vacancy of the Priory."[15] An action was brought on behalf of the King in 1371 and 1372 to establish claim "to present a parson to the church of Pageham, which is vacant and belongs to the King's gift."[16] The case was twice adjourned and seems never to have been decided. However, on 14th August, 1371, the King did present John de Donton to the church of Pagham.[17] It is not clear if Donton was ever instituted.

On the suppression of the monasteries the King, in May, 1541, granted to the Dean and Chapter of Canterbury "the messuage or college commonly called Canterburie Colledge, in the parish of St. Mary and St. Frideswide, in Oxford . . . the rectories and advowsons of vicarages of Pageham, Barsted, . . . which belonged to the late monastery of Christchurch, Canterbury."[18] On this grant the Archbishop to-day enjoys the right to present to the vicarages of Pagham and Bersted. Difficulty is suggested by the transactions of the next year, 1542, but this appears to have been overcome.[19]

The rectorial dues, or great tithes, were usually let to farm, the lease being enjoyed for a considerable time by St. John's College, Cambridge, and finally, such as had not been commuted, were again conjoined, under the will of the late W. H. B. Fletcher, with the living of Pagham.

NOTE

THE MANOR OF CLAPHAM.—I have been reading Rev. W. Budgen's paper in S.N.Q. on Wists and Virgates with much interest. On page 98 of Vol. x he writes that "Battle Abbey had the manor of Clapham." On the other hand Comber's Sussex Genealogies (Lewes Centre) at pages 90 and 91 refers to John de la Chambre being Lord of the manor of Clapham—Estbourne in 1500, the authority cited being the Court Rolls. It also appears from Comber that the de la Chambre family retained this property until 1575.

I think that the same manor is referred to in each case, but suppose that this question will be resolved when the Victoria History Rape of Pevensey is published.

OLD TREYFORD CHURCH.

BY R. CHARLES TROKE.

The sad condition of this beautiful building having roused my interest, I searched the ruins in 1923 and copied everything I found. I looked for the altar slab mentioned in Harrison's " Sussex Churches " and found not only this, but another by its side in a much decayed condition, also the gospel half of the chancel altar, of larger size and with one cross plainly visible. I also found three more consecra-

ANCIENT HORSE-SHOES.

BY HENRY TAYLOR, F.R.C.V.S.

(Concluded from p. 149.)

As remarked earlier in this article the dating of horse-shoes, when no other objects are found with them, is more or less guess work, but I propose to class them on the lines of Dr. Gordon Ward as a corollary to the article in a previous issue of the Magazine. (See frontispiece.)

GROUP 1.

Some of the shoes have been submitted to Dr. Gordon Ward for his inspection and opinion as to their dates.

No. 1. This shoe was found five feet deep in the centre of the road near Slaugham Church, quite close to the Hammer Pond. It is not fullered. It measures nearly five inches across at its broadest part. It has four nail-holes on the outside and three on the inside. It was probably made for a large horse and although found at the above-mentioned depth is most likely to be comparatively modern.

No. 2. This is the shoe from the Roman Camp at Newstead, near Melrose, N.B. It has five nail-holes both inside and outside and is fullered all the way round. It is concave on the upper surface. It is evidently not so ancient as its place of origin would indicate. Dr. Gordon Ward says that it seems likely to date from somewhere about 1800.

GROUP 2. The Mediæval group or Pack Horse type.

No. 3. Found five feet deep along with several more in Keysford Lane, about a quarter of a mile west of the Holy Well, Horsted Keynes, now used for the water supply of the district. The nail holes are 3.3. There is no fullering. The outside heel has a small turned down portion (i.e., a calkin). The nails have smaller shaped shoulders.

No. 4. Found at the same place.

It is conveniently called the " Dove " Pattern. Fleming says that the Earl of Lancaster, fleeing from Edward II early in the 14th century, managed to cross the River Dove but failed to get his baggage across which was lost in the river, including the pay chest and horse-shoes.

It has one heel with a well-marked calkin and the other is compressed laterally without a calkin. The nail holes are 3.3 and there is no fullering. The toe is broad.

No. 4*a*. Same type, found locally.

No. 5. Found in a bank at the old Forge at Maresfield (a mould for making small cannon balls and some cannon balls were also found there).

It is $4\frac{3}{8}$ inches across, the nail holes are 3.3 and the ground surface convex.

No. 6. A similar shoe to No. 5, nail holes 3-4, from Mr. J. C. Robinson, of Iford, who reports that a deep cultivator brought up several old shoes, all of one type. The marsh land had probably been down to grass for several hundred years.

Dr. Ward says the general indication suggests that the shoes of this type were in use in 1565.

GROUP 3.

No. 7, known as Murray's keyhole type. The holes are larger than the other groups and are fullered. The nail holes are 5.5. The ground surface is convex.

A provisional date for this group which seems to have sanction would be about 1650 to 1750.

No. 8 is another of the keyhole type, rather smaller, with calkins.

No. 9 is a variation of the true keyhole type; it came from Hythe in Kent.

Nos. 10 and 11. The heels of the shoe are far apart. No. 10 was found some feet deep in the road near the north end of Lyoth Lane, Lindfield.

No. 12. Similar type, found near Twineham Church.

No. 12*b*. Found at Ardingly near the Roman road.

No. 13. Smaller type, found in the road to Ditchling at Haywards Heath.

Nos. 14, 15 and 16 are examples of the "tongue" type, so called from the space between the sides resembling a tongue. The toe is fairly wide and calkins are present in some. All were found locally. They are said to be of a later date than the foregoing.

No. 17. Apparently a similar type only larger. It was found at Northlands Farm, Balcombe.

There are two interesting specimens at the foot of the plate: (1) An ox shoe from the South Downs; (2) a horse-shoe from Mesopotamia; notice the nail heads, which are one-sided.

The ox shoe was used when teams of oxen were used for ploughing on the South Downs.

SUSSEX ENTRIES IN LONDON PARISH REGISTERS.

Contributed by W. H. CHALLEN.

DUKE STREET CHAPEL in the parish of St. Margaret, Westminster.

This was founded in 1709. The Marriages (twelve only) 1745-1753 in the sole available book (held by Westminster Abbey), and the Matrimonial Allegations 1716-1741 for marriages to be solemnized at this Chapel, were printed in Coll. Top. and Gen., vol. 3.

There is no specific Sussex entry therein.

St. John the Evangelist, Smith Square, Westminster.

This parish was formed out of part of St. Margaret's, Westminster.

The church, consecrated 20 June, 1728, was burnt in September, 1742 and rebuilt 1745, according to a note in the first marriage register book to explain a corresponding gap in the entries. It was destroyed in May, 1941, by enemy action, and the register books damaged, but these have been repaired by the Public Record Office by whose courtesy and that of the clergyman in charge, I was permitted to extract in the Spring of 1943 the following entries relating to Sussex.

The second marriage register book, 1754-1761, is faint and much is illegible.

The books covering the marriages :—

6 October, 1761, to 13 September, 1767,

29 April, 1823, to 26 March, 1833, are missing and cannot be traced. Fourteen marriages from the former book and nine from the latter are in Vol. 45 of Col. J. L. Chester's parish register extracts at the College of Arms, London.

St. John the Evangelist, Westminster. Marriages, 1728-1837. (Gaps as above.)

1747—July 7. Ballsir Chatterton of St. Martin in the Feilds, bach., and Mary Sargant of Rye in Sussex (lic.).

1754—Mch 22. John Wakeford Bridger of Ripley, Surrey, bach., and Anne Wheeler of Elsted in same county, spin. (lic.).

(John Wakeford Bridger, who was apprenticed 1749 to John Chatfield of Ripley, Surrey, attorney, was baptised 27 Aug., 1731, at St. Martin, Chichester, as son of Wakeford Bridger who was christened 21 Feb., 1705(-6), as son of William Bridger, scrivenor, and Jane, born 12 Feb., according to the register of St. Olave, Chichester (the Bishop's Transcript has the father erroneously as John (notary) instead of William), and was buried 16 Jan., 1750(-1) Subdeanery, Chichester.

Wakeford Bridger married firstly as of Chichester, 25 Dec., 1724, at Up Waltham, Sx., Mary Palmer of Chichester (buried 19 Dec., 1743, Subdeanery, Chichester), and secondly as of Northwood in Stoughton, Sx., 18 June, 1744, at West Meon, Hants., Elizabeth Smith of Parbrook Heath in Farlington, Hants.

Wakeford Bridger's father, William Bridger, married as of St. Andrew, Chichester, 13 April, 1684, at St. Martin, Chichester, Jane Wakeford, spinster of St. Martin, to whose brother John Wakeford, attorney (died 1731 age 73), Wakeford Bridger erected a memorial in the church of St. Olave, Chichester.

A son of the above parties married here in 1754 was doubtless John Wakeford Bridger, to whom, as of Oving (6 years residence), gent., bach., age 24, a licence was granted in Chichester Archdeaconry 10 Aug., 1779, to marry Sarah Spratt of Wiggonholt, 21, spinster. This marriage is recorded in the register of Wiggonholt, Sx., under that date.)

1758—Mch. 9. Francis Fisher of Burwash, Sussex, Clerk, bach , and Charlotte Merest (signs Meret) of this parish, spinster (lic.). (Witnesses : Eliza. Merest, John Merest).

1758—May 30. Henry Ayling of Tillington, Sussex, bach., and Elizabeth Puttick of this parish (lic. from Dr. Bettesworth).

1795—Sep. 15. George Murray, a Captain of the Royal Navy, of St. Peter in the City of Chichester, Esquire, bach., and Ann Teisdale (signs Teesdale) of St. John the Evangelist, spin. (lic.). (A witness : Chrisr. Teesdale.)

1797—Oct., 26. James Champ (signs jun.) of St. Peter the Less in the City of Chichester, Sussex, bach., and Mary Louisa Hutchinson (signs Mary Hutchinson) of this parish, spin., a minor, by lic. and consent of her mother. (A witness : Mary Hutchinson.)

1805—Feb. 9. William Balcombe Langridge, Esq., of St. Peter and St. Mary Westout in the Borough of Lewis (sic), Sussex, bach., and Abigail Vidler of this parish, spin. (lic). (Witnesses : J. Vidler, Fr. Vidler.)

1836—Oct. 20. William Alger of Brighthelmstone, Sussex, bach., and Mary Ann Gifford of this parish, spin. (lic.) (A witness : Wm. Gifford, jr.)

1743—Feb. 25. Baptised Charles son of Sir Charles Goring, Baronet, by Dame Elizabeth, born 17 Mch.

(This son, whose birth is also recorded in the register of Wiston, Sx., was, according to Mr. E. V. Lucas in his " Highways and Byways in Sussex," the Charles Goring who planted the beeches on Chanctonbury Ring, Sx. His father was Sir Charles Matthew Goring, 5th Bart., who married at Wiston 30 Apr., 1743, Elizabeth Fagge, sister of Sir Robt. Fagge, 4th Bart., of Wiston, Sx.)

NOTES

THE PENFOLD BEQUEST: COINS AND TOKENS. THE ANGLO-SAXON COINS: ADDENDA.—In Volume 83 of the Collections there is a very interesting description of this section of the bequest of the late Dr. Penfold by Mr. J. B. Caldecott, F. S. A., including (p. 104) a detailed list of 31 pennies minted in Sussex. Recently, whilst preparing the collection for exhibition in the Anglo-Saxon Room at Barbican House, it became clear that there were some additional pennies in the Sussex section which had somehow been omitted from the list. The following items should therefore be added to the list given in Volume 83:—

Edward the Confessor

Hastings,	type VII .	BRID ON HAESTI
,,	———	DIODRED ON HAESTI
Lewes,	type VIII.	GODPINE ON LAEPE
,,	type VIII.	OSPOLD ON LAEPE
Steyning,	type VIII.	DIORMAN ON STENIG

Thus the total number of Sussex pennies in the bequest is actually 36. With them, too, are exhibited two further specimens, presented to the Society by Mr. L. F. Salzman, F.S.A.:—

Edward the Confessor

Hastings,	———	DUNNINC ON HAEST
Chichester,	———	LEFPINE ON CICEST

A caution must be added regarding the coin types quoted above. The type numbers are as given on Dr. Penfold's labels with the coins, but in checking the collection with Mr. Caldecott's list it was clear that Dr. Penfold's numbers differed from those of the British Museum Catalogue quoted in the list.

I. D. MARGARY.

SUSSEX IN THE BRONZE AGE.—In L. V. Grinsell's "Sussex in the Bronze Age" (S.A.C. lxxii, 1931, p. 41) he lists nine flat celts discovered in the county, including one from Ore, near Hastings, in the Hastings Museum (Butterfield Collection). I have recently been checking this collection, and though the typed label certainly says that it was found near Ore railway station, it is entered both in the Accessions Book and in the Catalogue as "Dug up at Silverhill," with a note in Butterfield's own handwriting that it came from his collection.

Another flanged celt in the Hastings Museum may be added to the list of six recorded in the above paper. This is a plain celt presented to the Museum in 1928 by the Rev. Richard Doughty, who stated that he had found it "many years ago" on a heap of flints in a field at Lullington. From these few details, the presumption appears to be that it came from the field and not from a pile of road metal of unknown provenance. Its surface is rather rough and granulated, with patches of the original smoothness showing through here and there. Its measurements are:

Length	117 mm.
Width of cutting edge	58 ,,
Width of body	22 ,,
Thickness in centre of body ...	19 ,,

The flanges are very low.

In August, 1937, Mr. F. J. Britt Compton, when walking along the bottom of the cliffs between Pett Level and Hastings, discovered part of a Bronze Age knife or rapier, resting on clay amongst the rocks at low tide. The three sections form part of a rapier with the hilt unfortunately missing. It was dated by Mr. Christopher Hawkes as Middle or Late Bronze Age. The surface is badly pitted, and one end tapers to a rough point. The length of the part recovered is 178 mm., and its maximum width 18 mm. This short account may be of interest in view of the rarity of Sussex rapiers of this period.

QUERY

BISHOP'S TRANSCRIPTS.—Mr. W. C. Renshaw (S.A.C. lv, 314) and Mr. W. H. Challen (S.N.Q. x, 9) both state that there are no Bishop's Transcripts for the year 1619. Is there a reason for this?

H.J.G.

THE PRESIDENT.

The present number of S.N.Q. is the last of Vol. x and for 1945. So far as possible the news given in it is confined to that year's, but notice should be taken of the election as President of Earl Winterton, M.P., one of the most distinguished of Sussex men, which took place at the Annual Meeting in March, 1946.

THE SOCIETY'S CENTENARY.

This year, being the Centenary of the foundation of the Sussex Archæological Society, will be marked by special meetings and by an appeal for funds to effect certain much-needed developments. A paper dealing with these matters will be circulated to members.

SUSSEX CHURCH PLANS.—LXXII

ST. MARY THE VIRGIN, BURPHAM.

This church contains pre-Conquest work in the north wall of the nave; a north transept was added in the twelfth century, a south transept of slightly later date and a south aisle were pulled down about 1800 and rebuilt some sixty years later. The chancel is of the thirteenth century, with alterations of about the fourteenth, and is notable among parish churches for its vaulting; the tower is of about the fifteenth century.

SUSSEX ARCHÆOLOGICAL SOCIETY.

COUNCIL.

The Council met at Barbican House, on Wednesday, October 31st 1945. Present, the Chairman and nineteen members.

Mr. E. J. Bedford, who is the father of the Society, having been elected in 1890, and who has done much work for it, was elected an Honorary Member. Twenty-three new members were elected, and five deaths and four resignations were reported.

The Bank balance was reported as standing at £134; payments amounting to £107 were paid. Beyond this, £350 had been repaid by the Trust, thus reducing its debt to the Society to £1,500; the sum was ordered to be placed to Reserve.

Arrangements for celebrating the Society's Centenary were recommended by the General Purposes Committee: more will be heard of this at the Annual Meeting.

The Curator of Deeds submitted a large number of presented documents, which were accepted with thanks. Among them were further deeds of the Shiffner Estates; a terrier of Lady Farm, Lancing, presented by Mr. Povey; and a notebook of Thomas Turner, of East Hoathly, the diarist, presented by his great-granddaughter, Miss Turner. The death of Mrs. Dunkin brought to the Society the large collection of original documents and transcripts formed and written by her husband, the late Mr. Dunkin, who died in 1915. The collection will be summarily described in a later number of S.N.Q.; it will suffice to note here that it includes records of visits to Sussex churches in the eighteen-sixties (and is thus to be compared with the records made by Mr. Saunders), copies of Bishops' Transcripts of parish registers, lists of incumbents, and the like.

Two manuscript maps, presented by Mr. Burder, and found among the papers of his uncle, the late Mr. W. E. Nicholson, one of the Southern or Buxted boundary of Ashdown Forest, 1831, the other of the boundaries of the parish of Hadlow Down, formed in 1836, will be the subject of notes in the next number of S.N.Q.

Other gifts included a fine copy, in original binding, of Dart's Canterbury Cathedral, presented by Alderman Charles Ellis.

The Curator of Deeds also reported that the West Sussex County Council had (like the East Sussex C.C.)

inaugurated a Muniment Room in the County Hall at Chichester and had, through him, entered into friendly relations with the Society.

The provision of larger and more suitable storage-space for the collection of Deeds and Documents, now large (see p. 190), was considered, and was referred to the General Purposes Committee.

The Council received and felt bound to accept, with very great regret, the resignation of Miss Cooper of her position as General Hon. Secretary, an office which she had held for the past seventeen years; her father Canon Cooper, it will be recalled by older members, was Chairman of Council. The Council have lately shown their high opinion of her services by promoting her election as F.S.A. The question of a successor was remitted to the General Purposes Committee.

The Council met at Barbican House, on Wednesday, December 12th, 1945. Present, the Chairman and fifteen members.

Eight new members were elected, and four deaths (among them that of Mrs. Dudeney, a Vice-President) reported.

A further £50, which had been repaid by the Trust, was ordered to be placed to Reserve.

The preservation of the Roman amphitheatre at Chichester was discussed; the Council hope to see the area kept open.

Permission was given for the loan of objects from the Museum for exhibition at Ditchling in the Spring in connection with the East Sussex Church and Land Association.

ERRATA.

We regret that in Vol. x, No. 7, p. 167 (visit to New Shoreham Church), Mr. O. H. Leeney's name was misprinted as S. E. Leeney. Most readers of S.N.Q. will probably not have been deceived, but we apologise to them as well as to Mr. Leeney.

On Vol. x, p. 159, in l. 4 of the note to the 1768 burial, for Sir Henry Goring, 2nd Bart., read Capt. Henry Goring (killed 1685).

SUPPLEMENT

PARISH REGISTERS AND "BISHOP'S TRANSCRIPTS"

Archdeaconry of Chichester

(Contributed by W. H. CHALLEN)

In October, 1946, Dr. Hilda Johnstone (Bishop's Archivist) made an important and interesting find in Chichester Cathedral muniment room of several rolls (by years) of over 1,000 Bishop's Transcripts for certain years from 1567-1629 (and two for 1700 and 1720) for 150 West Sussex parishes (including Bramber and Buttolphs as they were until 1929 in Chichester Archdeaconry), and a few Presentments, as well as a document which Mr. W. D. Peckham reveals is a Decree of nullity of marriage between Richard Freeland of Aldingbourne and Joan Bayly of (West)hampnett 12 May 1565 by Austin Bradbridge, M.A., Commissary general of Bishop William (Barlow), attested by Edward Amyers, notary public.

These files are undoubtedly those mentioned on page 29 as having been originally examined by Mr. W. D. Peckham, and perhaps include a few of the Itchingfield Bishop's Transcripts mentioned as having been seen by Mr. Percy S. Godman.

The following is a list of these Bishop's Transcripts (and Presentments), all of which have now been copied excepting those where either the parish or year is printed in italics, while the asterisks against the names of eighty-three of the parishes indicate that for these there are now earlier Bishop's Transcripts than those given in the tabular lists on pages 30-33, 56-57, 82-85, 100-101, 128-131, 150-153, 174-177, and also for Bramber (pages 9 and 42).

The afore-mentioned 1565 document has been returned to the Cathedral muniment room, but all the Bishop's Transcripts and Presentments, together with those meantime returned from Emmanuel College Library, Cambridge (see page 28), have been sorted into their respective parish parcels at the Diocesan Registry, Chichester.

As will be seen there are now Bishop's Transcripts for 1571 for other parishes besides those three mentioned on page 28, but pride of place for the earliest Sussex Bishop's Transcript, hitherto held by Stedham (1570), must now give way to South Stoke, for among these re-discovered rolls was a Bishop's Transcript without the year or name of the parish, which has proved to contain 1567 and 1569 entries recorded in South Stoke parish register which has, however, no 1571 entries.

Kent has some parishes for which there are Bishop's Transcripts even earlier than 1567, though it was the Constitution of Convocation of Canterbury in 1597, which was embodied in Canon 70 of the Church of England of 1603 (and in the Right Hon. George Rose's Act of 1812) that ordered transcripts of registers to be sent annually to the Diocesan Registrar. A Bill had however on 9 March, 1562 (-3) been read for the first time in the House of Commons to authorise one Office of Registership of all the Church books to be kept in every Diocese, but it was apparently dropped.

The earliest Bishop's Transcript given on page 84 for Hardham, though actually containing only entries dated 1592 appears on re-examination (by reason of the new Bishop's Transcript with later 1592 entries) to be intended to be " Sythence the yere 1591 unto this present tyme 1592." In the case of Horsham, the year 1624 should be deleted in the last column on page 85.

With regard to Chichester on page 33, Mr. W. D. Peckham has completed his copy of St. Pancras register 1558-1812 (collated to 1740 with the Bishop's Transcripts), and has calendared the register of All Saints in the Pallant, 1563-1812, but has made no collation of the Bishop's Transcripts. He has resumed transcribing the Subdeanery, Chichester, register (page 56), and proposes to calendar it all as far as 1812.

Mr. L. W. Cunnington reports that he has stopped at 1812 (instead of 1837) in his transcription of Angmering register (page 30) and a copy 1688-1812 is in the library of the Sussex Archæological Society, where there are also, (as stated in S.A.C., vol. 82, p. 150), Mr. E. H. W. Dunkin's copies of the M.I. and extracts from Parish Registers in Sir William Burrell's Sussex Collections (Add. MSS. 5697-99) which are at the British Museum.

For the General Index following, the Society is also indebted to Mr. W. H. Challon.
